

3.x and Earlier

Significant changes were made to the SRP HTTP Framework as version 4. However, there are many installations of v3 and earlier that are still producing mission critical RESTful APIs. Due to the number of differences between the older and newer versions of the product, it was determined that it would be better to separate the documentation rather than merge them. Much of the documentation in version 4 will still be applicable to older versions of the SRP HTTP Framework, but there are no assurances. Please use the appropriate documentation for your version of the SRP HTTP Framework.
