

HeaderPadding

The number of pixels between a header cell's edge and it's contents.

Usage

```
Set_Property(OLECtrlEntID, "OLE.HeaderPadding[col; row]", Text)
```

Values

Text can contain anything.

Default: ""

Indices

Index	Description
col	Index to an existing header column
row	Index to an existing header row

Remarks

The HeaderPadding property establishes the number of pixels between a header cell's edge and its contents. This allows you to further align the contents to some other point than a header cell's exact edge. You can also establish the distance between the header cell's image and its text.

A header cell's contents are clipped to according the padding, not its bounds.

See Also

HeaderAlignment, CellPadding